Speakers:

David Salazar, Chief Facilities Executive, Los Angeles Community College District

Roshni Thomas, Director, Planning Design and Construction, California State University, Dominguez Hills

John H. Morrill, Director, Capital Construction Development, University of Southern California

Moderator:

Nathan Kim, Principal, Studio Director, Gensler

Program Description:

The Southern California Higher Education building programs has been the staple for the building industry for the past decade. With steady growth and increased demands, both the Los Angeles Community College District and California State University, Dominguez Hills have been models for development and growth in Southern California Higher Education Market.

With the changing climate of the global economy, higher education institutions play a vital role in the development and education of the future workforce. Come join the AAa/e as we discuss the changing course at our local higher education facilities and its impact to the local and global economy.

Don't miss this opportunity to learn and engage with leading professionals from LACCD and California State University, Dominguez Hills as they present and discuss what is happening on their campuses.
