About the Webinar:

In commemoration of our 43rd Annual Banquet and in lieu of in-person events, AAa/e invites you to join us for a special event with four top public agency executives moderated by Stephen Cheung, President of the World Trade Center Los Angeles and COO & EVP of the Los Angeles County Economic Development Corporation (LAEDC). Key executives and decision makers today are faced with disruptions in revenue streams, geopolitical uncertainty, cyber threats, and attracting and retaining top talent. How do these executives plan to maintain the vision and mission of their organizations while establishing the next normal amid a global pandemic? These top executives will share their plans on the creation of new business models due to the unexpected disruptions and will speak to how they have maintained their focus in order to develop the right path for future growth while effectively planning the right infrastructure to adapt to the next normal.
