About the Webinar:

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) has temporarily stopped most construction projects at agency facilities to ensure the safety of employees, contractors and the public during the COVID-19 pandemic. The agency is continuing projects that are in critical phases and would affect operations or safety if not completed. For now, the FAA is delaying the start of new projects with design work on future projects continuing. Hear from LAWA, Ontario, Hollywood-Burbank and Long Beach airport on how they are managing all construction activities.
