About the Program:

No other large public agency has demonstrated the leadership and level of commitment to women in the transportation construction field. These Women Leaders of LA Metro in Capital Construction will focus on supporting and raising the profile of women in construction projects, as well as attracting more professional women to the transportation design and construction industry, with the hopes of encouraging and attracting women to the profession. This webinar reflects one of AAa/e's goals, to raise the profile of professional women in transportation by providing a platform to inspire and to be an agent of change.
